

BEHAVIORS THAT CAN IMPACT YOUR LICENSE AGREEMENT

Behaviors you may engage in or choices you may make could result in your License Agreement being terminated from University housing due to safety and security risks to our communities or yourself. If your License Agreement is terminated, you will no longer be eligible to live in on-campus housing.

Behaviors that can lead to License Agreement Termination include but are not limited to:

- Repeated use or possession of alcohol, may be as few as two times
- Possession of large amounts of alcohol, regardless of age
- Tampering with fire safety equipment or devices. This includes, but is not limited to: creating fire or fire-like conditions, creating false fire alarms or discharging fire extinguishers
- Physically hurting or causing injury to yourself or others including fighting, pushing/shoving, etc.
- Engaging in acts of domestic violence (as defined in the policies and procedures for hall living)
- Engaging in sexual misconduct (as defined in the policies and procedures for hall living)
- Engaging in behaviors that may be considered harassment or stalking
- Possession of a weapon (as defined in the Policies and Procedures for Dorm Living)
- Making threats of violence against others or against the community
- Possessing, using, selling or distributing:
  - any legal prescription outside of prescribed instructions, or not prescribed to you
  - repeated use or possession of cannabis, repeated may be as few as two times
  - non-prescription or illegal drugs (including synthetic drugs, and/or controlled substances)

Financial Implications

There are several implications of your License Agreement being terminated. You must move out of University housing and find off-campus housing at your own expense. You also may not visit any University residence hall or apartment complex nor are you permitted to live in any University of Arizona residence hall in the future. And finally, in accordance with The University of Arizona Housing License Agreement, if your License Agreement is terminated for conduct reasons, you will be charged rent based on the dates of your occupancy (pro-rated rent), plus you will be charged 65% of the remaining academic year rent or $2,500, whichever is less. This applies regardless of whether or not you continue enrollment at the University.

I have fully read, understand, and acknowledge that it is my responsibility to know and follow the Policies & Procedures for Hall Living, which includes the above-referenced standards and additional expectations for residing in the University of Arizona Residence Halls.
